Inequalities In School Assessment Complained Of

Residential Lots in Some Instances Assessed on Value of Business Lots.

Additional complaints have come to the fore during the week on the school assessment. One man owning a 50 foot lot is assessed $1,000 for it, which with assessment on improvements at $1350, makes his school taxes $47 on a small cottage. Add to this town taxes, and it is out of proportion to the value of the property. This is one of many similar instances, and which have aroused just cause for complaint. Many householders with small properties are becoming convinced it is cheaper to rent than to own a home.

Their improvements are assessed to the limit, and the householder who takes pride in his place is in a measure penalized for it, as he pays a far heavier tax than the householder who doesn't care what his place looks like.

Many property owners are pressing for a more equitable valuation of properties. Over 100 appeals have been lodged with the board, and more are expected by appeals in person at the court of revision on Monday, June 13.

A Long, Long Trail For Bob Borden

Started on Sunday on Motor Cycle for Kingston—Taking It By Easy Stages.

With a motor cycle loaded with camping equipment, Robert Lyman Borden, former gentleman cadet at the Royal Military College, Kingston, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Borden started on Sunday for Ontario, to attend the graduation exercises at the college. It is a 2500 mile trip, and he estimated he would travel about 250 miles each day, making the journey in ten days. His future plans were undecided. He stated he might stay in the east. For some months he has been working at International Coal Co.

Baffling Mystery Engrosses Minds Police and Public

Bobby Glendenning Killed by Bullet Saturday Night—No Report of Firearms Heard, No Inkling of Who Fired Fatal Shot.

Never in the annals of local police records has there been a more mysterious death than that of Bobby Glendenning, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Glendenning. Shortly before 9 p.m. Saturday while attaching a tail light to a used automobile, with Joe Jenkins assisting him, and his father standing a short distance from the head of the car, he suddenly slumped over. Blood immediately flowed from his nose and mouth, and in less than ten minutes he was pronounced dead.

So stunned were Jenkins and Glendenning's father, they could not realize what had happened to cause death. No report of firearms was heard, yet investigation by police officers and Dr. McLean, who arrived on the scene almost immediately, revealed he had been shot and had bled to death through internal hemorrhage.

The scene of his death is at the rear of his home in West Coleman. Towards the east and north is open space, with the creek running eastward, and the railroad track beyond a short distance. It is surmised the shot came from a triangular area from east to southeast general direction. The bullet entered the left lung, splintered a rib, and lodged in the right lung behind the heart, as revealed by the autopsy on Sunday by Drs. Borden and MacLennan. The inquest opened on Monday and after the jury had viewed the body, was adjourned till Tuesday next to allow time for police to pursue further investigations.

Over 20 Winchester rifles have been taken up from houses in West Coleman and will be examined by an expert of the R.C.M.P. in an effort to ascertain if the bullet markings correspond with the bore of any of the rifles.

The jury members sworn in were M. W. Cooke, foreman; Frank Abousafy, S. C. Short, H. T. Halliwell, J. M. Rushon, J. A. McDonald.

Deceased attended Coleman schools, and for a time was employed as a coke oven attendant at International mine. He was the only son, and heartfelt sympathy is felt for the grief-stricken parents.

Detective Bailey, R.C.M.P., of Lethbridge, has been specially assigned to the investigations being carried on under Sergeant Cawsey, R.C.M.P., who is assisting the local police in trying to solve the mystery.

Coleman and Hillcrest Juveniles
Play to 1-1 Tie

In a closely contested football game played at Hillcrest on Tuesday evening, Coleman juveniles, a school team, held the Hillcrest team to a 1-1 draw. Hillcrest took the lead in the first half on a goal by Brown.

Play was fairly even in the second half until five minutes from time when Coleman put on a sustained power attack, Russell, of Coleman, working in close to score the tying goal.

Exhibition game with teams in other Pass towns are expected to be played in the near future.

Coleman Included In Seven Team Hockey League

Provincial Hockey Meeting At Calgary Includes All Senior Alberta Teams in One League. 16 Home Games For Each Team Planned.

Unlike the provincial hockey meeting held last year, the Alberta Hockey Association did the talking and delegates of the Senior Six are listening this year. It was made clear from the outset that Coleman and Lethbridge, the hockey orphans of last year, were going to be included in the Alberta league. Turner Valley, as expected, was received with open arms by the provincial association.

Upon Calgary and Edmonton officials announcing there would be only one team in each city, Coleman, Lethbridge and Turner Valley were immediately admitted to the league. They, along with Calgary, Drumheller, Olds and Edmonton, form the newly organized seven-team league.

Due to the long distance Coleman will have to travel and the limited seating capacity of their arena they will be subsidized. Coleman officials have not yet received any official notification of this new set-up, so that

COLEMAN WITHDRAWS FROM CROW FOOTBALL LEAGUE

Failure to Organize a Committee And Failure of Players to Practice Given As Reasons.

Decision to withdraw from the Crow's Nest football league was made by James Park, club secretary, on Tuesday evening as he handed in the local club's withdrawal in a letter to the association secretary.

Mr. Park has met with failure on three occasions in his efforts to organize a committee to handle the club's affairs. Players are giving him very little encouragement and on Tuesday evening only four turned up for practice.

A league meeting has been called for Sunday at Fernie, where club delegates will meet to decide future action. A league had already been drawn up, but will now have to be redrawn, provided the B.C. teams consider it advisable to continue with a three team league.

Kimberley were prevented from opening the league at Michel and Coleman over the week end, due to bridges being washed out in the Fernie district.

NEWSPAPER IN THE SCHOOL

With this issue a beginning has been made, we hope to continue and make it a part of our regular program. It has been very interesting preparing this paper and works in well with the New Course of Study which is based more upon doing things and gaining experience rather than the acquiring of factual knowledge for examination purposes.—Bowmanville Statesman.

It is not known what amount this subsidy will be.

Little has been heard from local fans concerning this new set-up. They realize that Coleman had no alternative in the matter but to affiliate with the Alberta league. While it is not expected to see teams boasting the calibre of Trail Smoke Eaters, interest will be made up in rivalry between Coleman against Lethbridge and Calgary.

Victim of Tragic Shooting Laid To Rest

Large Attendance of Neighbors and Friends at St. Paul's United Church for Funeral Service.

Bobby Glendenning was laid to rest yesterday afternoon in Coleman cemetery with the secret as to who caused his death by shooting on Saturday night still locked in someone's heart. Whether by intent or by accident, no clue has yet been discovered to substantiate either opinion. Some incline to the belief it was murder; others that it was a stray shot fired by someone unaware of the dangerous hazards of firing in a thickly populated area, and who, finding that Glendenning had been killed, has become so obsessed with fright, that he has been afraid to come forward.

The awful secret remains while the grief of his parents over the death of an only son can only be assuaged by the passing of time.

The funeral service at St. Paul's United church on Wednesday afternoon was attended by many neighbors and friends, and Rev. J. H. Bevan, though not preaching from a text, stated that the tragic circumstances which had brought them together for the service brought to mind the words from Proverbs: "Thou knowest not what a day may bring forth." The old we all know must die, he stated, but when the young are taken, one can only attribute it to the will of God.

The hymns, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Abide With Me" were sung, and Miss Gwen Brown, by special request of the parents, sang "Shall we gather at the river?" Mr. William Lees played the organ accompaniment.

Many beautiful floral tributes were laid on the grave, the committal service in Coleman cemetery being attended by many who were unable to gain admittance to the church.

The pall-bearers were Vernon Brown, David Jones, Miller Fleming, Alex. Kapalka, John Raymond and Robert Frantz.

Relatives and friends from a distance who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kynoch, Miss Emma Glendenning, Mr. and Mrs. H. Armstrong, Mrs. Chas. Clifford, Miss Josephine Kynoch, Mr. and Mrs. J. Evans, Mr. W. Winkup, all of Calgary. Mrs. J. Campbell, Lougham, B. C., Mr. W. Glendenning of Blairmore, Miss Jeanne McCormick, Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Gallaway, all of Fernie, B. C.

International Mine Starts New Cleaning Plant

Will Enable Superior Product to Be Placed on Market—Other Improvements Noted.

The new cleaning plant at International Coal Co., put into operation this week, is giving satisfaction, stated General Manager George Kellogg, and will enable the company to place on the market a grade of coal superior to the general run produced by most mines in the district.

The wash-box of the cleaning plant was designed and manufactured by G. A. Viasa, former general manager of West Canadian Collieries Ltd., who since resigning from that position has been engaged in business for himself in designing cleaning plants for mines in Canada and the United States. He will also install cleaning plants at Michel in the new tipple being erected to replace the one destroyed by fire last year.

HARRY THOMAS TO TRAIN FOR OLYMPICS

Harry Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomas, after completing Grade IX, went to Vancouver and is now attending Magee high school, Point Grey. In the inter-high school competitions recently held in Hastings Park, he won second place in the pole vault. Coach Brant Little, who trained Percy Williams for the Olympics some years ago, is organizing a group of athletes who competed in the recent high school competitions, for the purpose of training them for the 1940 Olympic trials, and Harry is one of the group.

Harry's parents are justly proud of his achievement.

Salvation Army Special Services

Envoy Frayne and a musical quartet will be visiting the local Salvation Army Corps this week-end. One of the quartet, a Japanese youth, Billy Tamagi, has an exceptionally fine voice and will sing solos during the Sunday services.

Sunday services are at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. Everyone is invited to these meetings.

Induction Services of Rev. John Rayson Hague

Bishop of Calgary and Clergy of Rural Deanery of Macleod Take Part.

St. Luke's church, Blairmore, and St. Alban's, Coleman, were filled by parishioners last evening at 7 p.m. and 8.30 p.m. respectively, when the recently appointed incumbent, Rev. J. R. Hague, was inducted by Rt. Rev. L. Ralph Sherman, D.D., Bishop of Calgary.

The form of induction and induction, as set forth in the prayer book was followed, the bishop reading the various charges, declarations and oaths, responded to by Mr. Hague. The letters of Institution and License were read by Rev. R. Axon, rural dean of Macleod, and the keys were handed over by the people warden, Mr. Walter Williams.

Rev. Canon Middleton of Cardston gave the address, and referred to his early services in the parish, 25 years ago. He also paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Frank Graham, sr., who passed away several years ago, and who was a prominent and faithful worker since the church was built. His sermon was based on a text from Exodus:—"He led his flock to the other side of the desert." He urged the congregation to give their support and encouragement to the newly appointed clergyman.

Well-known hymns led by the choir, with Mrs. Clifford as organist, were heartily sung, the service concluding at 9.30 p.m.

A parochial gathering was held in the parish hall, at which a welcome was extended to the bishop and the visiting clergy by H. T. Halliwell for St. Alban's vestry. Rev. Walter Barlow, of Brocket, welcomed Rev. Mr. Hague as a member of Macleod Deanery, to which Mr. Hague replied. Bishop Sherman in a brief address spoke of Mr. Hague's faithful ministry in the mission field of Coultas and other southern Alberta points, and believed that with the support of the people here he would be a splendid influence for extending the church's work in the Pass towns and further afield.

Refreshments served by the Ladies Guild brought a very pleasant evening to a close. Several from Blairmore were present.

The following clergy accompanied Bishop Sherman: Rev. Canon Middleton, Rev. R. Axon, M.A., Rev. W. Barlow, L.Th.; Mr. Morrison, student missionary of Pincher Creek. They left following the social to spend the night at the Indian school on the Pigeon reserve at Brocket, of which Rev. Mr. Barlow is the superintendent.

IMPROVED STREET LIGHTING PROPOSED

The council has under consideration the proposal to install improved lighting equipment for the streets, which at present are lighted by crude gasolene which are inadequate to give a bright appearance after dark. More and more light is needed in a progressive town the size of Coleman. More point is badly needed on Main Street, and some adverse comment was heard from visitors this week on the bedraggled appearance of buildings.

The town needs a Paint-Up campaign.

Taxes are reaching the point where it will be cheaper to rent than to own a home.

The Misses A. Yull, Margaret and Ethel Dunlop attended the Footballs Festival held at Charlton on Saturday. It was organized by Schools Inspector Bremner, of Macleod.

Turgeon Grain Commission Report

The recent publication of the findings and recommendations of the Turgeon Royal Grain Commission does not seem to have caused a ripple of any sizeable proportions on the body politic to date.

This apparent lack of public interest of a vocal nature may be due to the fact that the document in its entirety, a tome of considerable dimensions, has not yet been printed and distributed and even the ample summaries issued to the press are of sufficient proportions to necessitate considerable cogitation before their contents become assimilable.

On the other hand, the absence of public comment on wide scale might be credited to lack of any spectacular proposals in the recommendations which, generally speaking, follow along lines regarded in some quarters as "safe and sane".

Some Disappointment Possible

Undoubtedly a substantial section of the farming community in Western Canada is disappointed to find that the Commission does not recommend the establishment of a national compulsory grain marketing board with full-fledged powers, for which there has been, and still is, a considerable demand from some individual farmers as well as farmer organizations.

Mr. Justice Turgeon's verdict that a national compulsory marketing organization would be impractical is somewhat modified, however, in his further suggestion that the present Canada Wheat Board set-up should be maintained "because of uncertain world factors."

To what extent the disappointment caused by the absence of a recommendation for a national compulsory marketing organization will be tempered when Mr. Justice Turgeon's reasons are thoroughly digested, remains to be seen. The general Western attitude towards the decision to reject such a proposal on the grounds of expediency, both abroad and at home, will probably not crystallize until farmer leaders have made public their views on the report and this is not likely to be forthcoming until they have had an opportunity of perusing the complete document.

Whether or not the reasons advanced in the report for refraining from recommending a compulsory board are sufficiently cogent to persuade leaders of farmer organizations that the time is not yet ripe for a such a board, it is a safe venture that the demand for it will be renewed at some future date, and particularly if a series of bumper crops in producing countries result again in low prices and another big carryover.

Trend Revealed At Conference

The very fact that some measure of control over production in the large producing countries, because of the danger of a recurrence of a flooded export market under certain conditions, is being urged by delegates who attended the British Empire Producers' conference this spring in Australia, would indicate that the agitation for compulsory control measures in some form will not be abandoned altogether.

This viewpoint can be elicited from the statement of one of the delegates recently returned from the Empire Producers' conference, J. H. Weston, president of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and chairman of the Pools' Central Selling Agency, who at a recent meeting in Regina forecast the ultimate necessity of a world wide agreement among all wheat producing countries to eliminate dumping and surpluses "that shatter prices and bring ruin to producers."

Whether or not farmers and farm organizations continue their efforts towards the establishment of a national compulsory marketing organization, defer such efforts, drop them entirely, serious consideration should be given in the meantime to some useful recommendations in the Turgeon Commission report.

Some Valuable Suggestions

Chief among these suggestions are recommendations for continuance and extension of voluntary co-operative marketing schemes "after the pattern of the Australian wheat pool," the establishment in London, England, of a Canadian representative to investigate buyers' complaints and endeavor to ensure consumer good will; periodic visits by members of the Board of Grain Commissioners to Great Britain and the establishment of a Canadian Wheat Institute to conduct research into new markets and new uses for wheat.

The necessity for the last-mentioned has on previous occasions been urged in this column on the ground that the processing of wheat into by-products may have great possibilities in widening the market for what is still the chief product of Western Canadian agriculture, and too much stress cannot be laid on the advisability of endeavoring to open up new markets of this type.

If some of the wheat now grown for bread can be diverted into commodities of another form, to the extent that this is possible and the product can be made a commercial feasibility, the dire consequences of another glut can be lessened by that much; and if such by-products can be absorbed in the domestic market, they may open the road to the development of new Canadian industries, a possibility which should not be overlooked.

Proving By The Stars

According To American Professor Signs Are Not Infallible

Astrologists claim that mysterious vibrations from distant stars influence human characteristics and abilities. Like every other scientist in good academic standing, Psychologist Paul Randolph Farnsworth, of Stanford University, views this claim with extreme skepticism. Last week he reported a statistical check of the horoscope makers on one specific point.

In five out of six "standard" astrology books that Dr. Farnsworth examined, it appeared that a person born under Libra ("The Scales"), seventh of the zodiac's 12 signs, should have musical ability. Libra's children are those born from September 24 to October 23. Looking up the birth dates of 1,498 musicians, Dr. Farnsworth found that fewer were born under this sign than under any other except Scorpio. Libra and Scorpio were in fact tied for last place as musicians-makers. Thus in picking a musical sign the astrologists could have made 10 better choices than Libra, and could not have made a worse.

Dr. Farnsworth himself plays the violin very ably. He was born on August 15, under the sign of Leo—Time.

Has Valuable Manuscript

Actor Will Publish Letters Written By Danish Author

Jean Hersholt says he has acquired the manuscript of the third part of the autobiography of Hans Christian Andersen.

The actor who depicted the character of Dr. Allan Roy Deane, Calander, Ont., country doctor, in talkies featuring the Dionne quintuplets, claims he has the world's largest collection of the Danish author's manuscripts and letters. He is transcribing and editing 38 letters written by Andersen, which he will publish privately next fall.

"The first part of Andersen's autobiography, 'My Own Fairy Tale', recounting his life from 1805 to 1845, was published in Germany," Hersholt said. "The second part, from 1845 to 1855, was published in Danish. These manuscripts are in the royal library in Copenhagen."

"The original of the third part, his life from 1855 to 1869, was printed in the United States, in English. Many persons have tried to locate the manuscript, which I learned from some of his letters was owned by a family in Boston."

Hersholt declined to say what he paid for the manuscript.

"DO AN OGDEN'S ROLL!"

The Old Barn Dance

It Was A Community Event In Which All Took Part

In pioneer times, when barn raisings were frequent, barn dances were community events. It was a poor barn indeed that was not opened by a jolly "house-warming." In those days, there was none of the new-fangled fox-trots, "toddle," Charleston or the even newer Black Bottom or Big Apple. There was the occasional dignified waltz but generally speaking it was "Salute your partners and all grand chain," with the booming voice of the caller keeping time to the music as he sang out, "and wink your eye as you pass her by, and kiss the next one on the sly." It is easy for the older folks to warn the youth of to-day about keeping late hours. It would not be so easy for them to explain, however, what kept them stepping it off until daybreak at a rural barn dance!

And the curious part of it was that in those days it was the middle-aged and more elderly people who insisted on the fiddlers keeping up the music until it was time to go home and feed the cows—Windsor Star.

New Idea In Offices

Czechoslovakian Shoe King Does His Business In Elevator

Mr. Bata, the shoe king of Czechoslovakia, is building a new factory 16 stories high, which is going to be the biggest concrete structure in Europe. Mr. Bata's own office in the factory is going to establish some record too, in Europe and out of it. It is a big elevator which moves up and down a shaft adjoining the offices of the department heads on each floor, so that when Mr. Bata wants to have a conference all he does is push a button and presto, the conference is on. We hope this new development in office construction stays in Czechoslovakia—Tide.

The Canadian Navy

Four Destroyers Attract Considerable Interest At Panama Canal
Canadians who look with some disfavor on their small navy should live in Panama to appreciate its significance to the country and its interests, according to W. J. Riddiford, Canadian government trade commissioner at Panama City, a visitor to Windsor, Ont.

When Canada's four modern destroyers appear in the canal, it is an occasion of importance, not only for Canadian expatriates, but for all the foreign element in that busy, tropical, United States dominated zone. Canada's importance in world trade and her prominence as a world entity is greatly enhanced by the smart appearance of these boats and their crews, who are lavishly entertained on their visits, Riddiford said.

"We regard the appearance of these boats as one of our greatest assets in selling the country and its advantages," Riddiford pointed out. "The natives look upon the visits of these ships as events which demonstrate the stability and international importance of Canada. These trim, smart, modern ships, manned entirely by Canadians, are a sight which every Canadian would be thrilled to witness, he added.

Born in London, Ont., educated at Woodstock College and McMaster University, Riddiford entered the Canadian trade service in 1928, the occasion of his last trip to Windsor as a junior. Thereafter, he was sent to China, where he served in Hong Kong and Shanghai. Returning from the Orient, he was stationed for two years in New York, and from there took over his present position, which he has held for three years. He is married and has a 19-months-old son.

Canada's Flax

High Quality Makes It Ideal For Airplane Fuselage

Canada is raising flax for airplane fuselage, and because of its high qualities, more of it will, if possible, be produced. The news came from R. H. Hutchinson, official in charge of the flax division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, who sailed on the Canadian Pacific's liner Duchess of Richmond. Mr. Hutchinson said he would contact the Air Ministry when abroad.

Canadian flax, stated Mr. Hutchinson, is of excellent quality, and on a par with the Russian brand. The flax is now being grown and processed out around St. Clet and de Beaujeu, on the Quebec-Ontario border. This flax then is sent to the British Government.

It was explained that cotton used to be used in fuselage construction, but that cotton broke under bullet fire and went to pieces. On the other hand, materials of a flax base permit the bullet to make a hole without ripping the fabric. The change therefore is from cotton to flax.

Mr. Hutchinson also brought out another interesting feature. He said that the seed of a flax base permit being shipped to Ireland for rearing. The Irish did not always get good seed, and the Canadian seed was good, and proved a success when replanted in Erin.

"Then," asked a reporter, "Why do they import flax from Argentina?" "That is for linseed oil," replied the expert. "Our flax does not meet the requirements. But it is imported only for that."

We sell the flax to Britain for planes. We ship seed to Ireland for re-planting, and we import flax from Argentina for linseed oil.

Thousand Islands Bridge

Dedication Ceremonies To Be Held On August 18th

Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada has accepted the Thousand Islands bridge authority's invitation to attend the dedication ceremonies opening the new Thousand Islands international bridge on August 18.

The invitation to Mr. King corresponds to the one recently made to President Roosevelt, a warm personal friend of the Canadian premier, by the members of the bridge authority. Similar invitations have been extended to Lord Tweedmouth, Governor-General of Canada, and to Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York.

The new Thousand Islands international bridge across the St. Lawrence river and the Thousand Islands, will connect Ivy Lea, Ont., near Brockville, with Collins Landing, N.Y. It consists of five spans and a series of approaches and connecting roadways.

Canada As A Nation

Unity Must Be Maintained Or Full Growth Not Possible

In Nova Scotia recently the Legislature considered setting up a statute to Sir Charles Tupper. It was of Tupper that Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that he made Confederation possible.

One of the Maritime legislators objected to the statue on the deplorable narrow ground that Tupper had done more for Upper Canada than for his own province. It is not such shortsighted gentlemen, unable to peer beyond the boundaries of their own province, who will build Canada into the nation she is to be.

In burning contrast were the words of the Right Hon. R. E. Bennett when he addressed the Young Men's Section of the Toronto Board of Trade a few days later:

"Ontario is a great Province, but it isn't Canada," he urged with passionate emphasis. "Ontario is Quebec, the Maritime Provinces nor the Far West. And unless we realize that narrow provincial boundaries are not the limits of nationhood, we will never become the Dominion we ought to be. We must have common faith, common sacrifices, yes, a common conscience in each other to reach our common goal."

Where The Fault Lies

Telephone Operator Says Many People Do Not Speak Clearly

If you have trouble making yourself understood over the telephone, do you think the listener stupid or the apparatus out of order, or are you willing to admit that you yourself are at fault? Perhaps you are one of those who agree that the American telephone public has the numbers and that the numbers are fast degenerating into the grunts, to say a telephone operator, Miss Katherine Schmitt, who speaks from experience, for she got her first job in Manhattan's Nassau street exchange in 1922 and worked at the board for nearly 50 years in positions of increasing responsibility.

During the last eight years Miss Schmitt officially has been in retirement, but she is called upon now and then for the advice that she is especially equipped to give, and her observations deserve a wide audience.

The human voice, she says, is capable of being trained to a high degree, but it does not take extraordinary training to produce clear, understandable telephone speech. What really is needed is for the speaker simply to give thought to the possibility that he is a mumbler, and to utter the syllables slowly and distinctly, without yelling or without skipping all the consonants. Thus we can do our share in fostering one of the amenities of life.—Buffalo Courier-Express.

Taking Exciting Trip

California Helress Is Planning Sixth Expedition To North

Summertime to Louise A. Boyd means hardship and exciting adventure in the Arctic. San Francisco and San Rafael, where she soon leaves Norway, hearse, she has chartered an old Norwegian seal ship, on her sixth expedition to the North.

She plans to work her way from Spitzbergen to Greenland at a higher latitude than any vessel has made the passage. Four scientists will make the trip with her. The vessel carries a crew of 14.

Miss Boyd already has penetrated farther north than any white woman and is the only foreign woman to receive the ordinals of vassal of Norway. That was awarded for her help in the search for Amundsen in 1928. At the same time the French government made her a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

A magistral rule that because a man owns his own house it does not mean nowadays that he has money. It merely means he had money.

Body Of Kidnapped Boy Found Floating In New York Harbor

New Rochelle, N.Y.—The wire-bound body of long-missing 12-year-old Peter Levine—head, hands and feet missing—was found and identified by detectives Sunday night on the shore of the estate of Louis Iselin on Davenport Neck, Long Island sound.

The body was hardly more than a mass of decomposed flesh and a few bones, but Detective Edwin Gleason and Michael Lynch said enough of the lad's clothing remained to make identification possible.

Helm Strong, 47, a yacht captain employed by Mrs. Iselin, was standing on the shore when, he said, a due east wind blew the body landward and lodged it against a rock. He immediately spread the news and officers were on the scene in a short while.

The boy, son of Murray Levine, wealthy New York attorney, disappeared from his home here Feb. 24 after leaving school. Almost immediately, the father received a note demanding $60,000 ransom, but payment of the money was never made.

Gleason said a strong copper wire was found about the torso, part of it binding down the remains of an arm. He said he believed the kidnapper, after failure to contact Levine, had become panicky, bound the boy and thrown him into the water.

There was no indication immediately, he said, that death occurred before immersion but an autopsy was ordered to determine this.

A squad of federal investigators, active in the case after March 14, when his father abandoned all efforts to get in touch with the abductor, arrived on the scene.

The boy's father could not be located. It was an ironic twist that the father, who had remained so close in the vicinity of times shutting himself up for days while he made frantic appeals by telephone and radio for safe return of his son—should be absent at the tragic end.

He had offered $25,000 reward for information leading toward safe return of the boy, setting a deadline of June 15, with a $5,000 reward for the body.

No more than three weeks ago two boys, fishing near the spot opposite Fort Snodum, Long Island, where the body was washed up, reported sighting a body, and a woman motor-boating in the sound also said her craft had struck a body.

Police searched the area but found nothing. They believed it possible the body had been mangled by being struck by boats as well as having decomposed from what apparently was weeks in the water.

Police said identification was made principally from sweater and a maroon windbreaker. Peter wore when he dropped from sight.

Seven persons in several nearby states were arrested and several were convicted on charges of trying to extort money from Levine on the pretext they could return Peter.

Austrian Jews Sulked

Vienna—Conservative private estimates set at 450 the number of Austrian Jews who have taken their own lives since the absorption of Austria in greater Germany.

A Strong Plea For National Unity By Canadian Legion

Ottawa—If Canada is to become a nation in fact as well as name, national unity must be encouraged by strengthening of the central government, the Canadian Legion asserted.

United effort and high morale, in the Legion's view, were no less necessary for Canada in peace than in wartime, it declared in a submission before the Rowell commission.

"It is with this knowledge that we feel impelled to make our plea for unity and to withhold our support from those forces which would tend to develop nine sovereign states owing doubtful and grudging recognition to a central authority of limited power," said Col. C. Basil Price, Montreal, Legion spokesman.

So Canada might develop as a united nation, the Legion advocated a review of the whole structure of its constitution to ensure:

That the central authority has ample power to implement international obligations.

Royal Visit To France

Plans Made For Visit Of King And Queen On June 28

Paris—Detailed plans for the reception to be given King George VI and Queen Elizabeth when they arrive June 28 on a visit to France were made public.

When the royal yacht Victoria and Albert approaches French territorial waters from the North sea, honors will be paid by a squadron of the French fleet, which will accompany the vessel to Boulogne. The yacht will slow down as it passes the monument erected at the entrance to the port of Boulogne in memory of British soldiers killed in France during the Great War.

The sovereign and his consort will be welcomed by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, British Ambassador Sir Eric Phipps and representatives of President Albert Lebrun.

After the welcoming ceremonies the king and queen will enter the president's special train. Along the route to Paris stations will be closed and the public excluded one hour before the arrival of the train. Genarmes and members of the guard mobile will join railway police in protecting bridges and signal stations.

Trapped In Forest Fire

Man Loses Life In Bush Near Port Arthur

Port Arthur—Horror of being trapped in a raging forest fire here recounted here by H. H. Olafson, who with others of his logging crew, covered for half an hour in a creek 18 feet wide with knowledge one of their mates probably was being burned to death not far away.

Olafson, foreman of the crew of five, driving pulpwood near Heron bay, told of the fire in which Ole Swanson lost his life because, as he thought, there was lots of time.

Swanson failed to hurry with the rest of the crew when they rushed to the creek for shelter and later, apparently, became confused and headed into the flames. The body was burned almost beyond recognition.

Probable Date For Appeal

Privy Council May Consider Alberta Case On July 1

Ottawa—Alberta appeals against judgments of the supreme court of Canada on the recent constitutional references will probably be heard by the judicial committee of the privy council in London on July 1, according to word received by the justice department here.

The judgments appealed held three Alberta statutes relating to the taxation of banks, the regulation of credit and newspapers unconstitutional.

Cheered By Large Crowd

London—More than 8,000 persons cheered the king and queen as their majesties arrived at Albert Hall to hear a choir of 2,000 voices sing in an Empire Day royal command concert. Singers came from Scotland, Eire, Wales and some of the dominions, and the concert was broadcast to many parts of the empire.

Would Store Food

Britain Will Purchase Supplies To Hold In Case Of Emergency

London—A bill to legalize purchase of commodities for defence requirements, forecast by Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget speech April 26, was given first reading in House of Commons.

Called the "essential commodities bill," it deals with food for man, foodstuffs for animals, fertilizers for land and petroleum products which would be declared essential for vital needs of the community in event of war.

The board of trade is empowered under its terms to obtain from traders periodical returns on quantities of such stocks held.

A two-fold method of acquisition—financial assistance to traders to increase their normal reserves and storage facilities, and direct purchase of reserves by the board of trade—would be created.

Government-purchased supplies would be held as war reserve, not to be disposed of in peace time without consent of parliament. A special fund would be established to meet the cost.

The bill followed Sir John's announcement in the budget speech that the government had cut through red tape and gone ahead with purchase of an undisclosed amount of wheat, sugar and white oil to be stored in case of emergency.

Attempted Kidnapping

Man Held In Connection With Lord Nuffield Case

Oxford, Eng.—Police held 50-year-old John Bruce Thornton on a charge of carrying two automatic pistols and questioned a second man in connection with what Viscount Nuffield, motor millionaire, termed an attempt to kidnap him.

Lord Nuffield and the authorities were secretive but it was disclosed police had been guarding the manufacturer, at Hungercombe, near Henley, for some time. Thornton was arrested when he arrived at Lord Nuffield's Cowley works of the Morris Motor Company.

Possibility that Thornton intended to flee the country with Lord Nuffield as his captive was seen when police seized the 11-ton motor yacht Pierette, which Thornton gave as his address. The yacht had been anchored in the Thames off Pimlico, near Ipswich, for some days.

Reason Budget Is Delayed

Government Anxious To Include Trade Treaty With U.S.

Ottawa—Delay in presentation of the budget is due to the desire of the government to include in it, if possible, the revised trade treaty with United States. Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, told the House of Commons. It was not certain as yet whether that objective would be reached.

Hon. H. A. Stewart (Con., Leeds) asked if the budget would be brought down before the Saskatchewan election June 8.

"The Saskatchewan election has nothing to do with the budget," Mr. Dunning replied.

New Japanese Minister

Ottawa—Baron Shun Tomii, new Japanese minister to Canada, presented his credentials to Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada. The Emperor of Japan has accredited him as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Canada.

PROMINENT IN INVESTIGATION OF "CHEST" CURE

An important conference was held in Toronto recently when Hon. Harold J. Kirby (right), Ontario Minister of Health, invited prominent physicians and hospital representatives to examine claims of David Findarg, Winnipeg chemist, that he had discovered a "cure" for diseases of the respiratory organs. Mr. Findarg's treatment was introduced in England in 1934 and some 10,000 persons have been treated. It is also being used in Winnipeg, and ex-Major Colonel Ralph Webb (left), of Winnipeg, personally attended the Toronto meeting to declare his backing of the new treatment.

Anticosti Island

Will Not Fall Into Foreign Hands, Says Prime Minister

Ottawa—Anticosti Island, the huge wooded territory at the mouth of the St. Lawrence river, will not fall into foreign hands, Prime Minister Mackenzie King indicated in House of Commons.

The government is considering what action should be taken in view of negotiations between Consolidated Paper Company, owners of the island, and a German group. It has been in Quebec and both governments agreed it would be undesirable to permit the island to pass into foreign control.

Mr. King made his statement after Sir Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, and J. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, urged the government to expropriate the island.

Mr. Bennett said he had looked into the position carefully and ascertained there was an option for the sale of the island, nominally to a foreigner.

Further he had learned the party of experts who visited the island recently were men of great eminence in Germany—eminence as military and naval experts, and only one of them was a forestry expert.

May Remain In England

But Alberta's Rancher Earl Has Not Reached Decision

Southampton.—The Earl of Egmont, Alberta rancher, arrived here in the liner Empress of Britain undecided whether to live in Avon castle, the ancestral residence of the Egmont family in Hampshire. His countess said she was "dying" to see the castle.

Lord Egmont said they were staying several months and would tour the United Kingdom. He was undecided whether or not to take his seat in the house of lords. He said it was up to the countess whether they settle in Avon castle, but admitted he had purchased a return ticket to Canada.

Urge Co-ordination

For Dominion-Provincial Partnership In Social Service Field

Ottawa. A Dominion-provincial "partnership" in the social service field, under which the Dominion would assume some responsibilities in their entirety and would recognize others as resting with the provinces, was envisaged before the Rowell commission as it resumed sittings here.

In addition to areas of distinct jurisdiction, closely co-ordinated action by Dominion and provincial governments was advocated in such matters as re-settlement schemes, the linking of vocational training to employment placement and advisory supervision of welfare services.

Miss Charlotte Whitton, speaking for the Canadian Welfare Council, placed the detailed plan before the commission.

Miss Whitton held it to be the duty of the state to assure its citizens such conditions of gainful occupation "as to make possible at least a minimum subsistence."

Urging co-ordinated control of settlement and depopulation of unsuitable areas under Dominion leadership, Miss Whitton said unsuitable lands had been settled in many parts of all provinces, not just in the drouth area of the prairies, and some of it at no great distance from Ottawa itself.

The council proposed Dominion administration of services to be made contributory, some on the insurance principle, covering dependence due to "old age, widowhood and orphanhood, loss or impairment of gainful occupation, costs of care and loss of income during sickness."

To operate the insurance machinery, a Dominion social insurance board was advocated.

Radio Licenses

Plan To Turn Over Collections To War Veterans

Ottawa.—A plan to turn collection of radio license fees across Canada over to the war veterans has been considered, Hon. C. G. Power, pensions minister, told the House of Commons when estimates for veterans' assistance were considered.

In answer to a question from Howard Green (Cons., Vancouver South), Mr. Power said he had suggested veterans might form themselves into some sort of corporation and approach the government for a contract to collect all radio license fees. He had discussed it with Hon. C. D. Howe, transport minister, who favored it.

Wheat Farmer In Strongest Position For Past Eight Years

Ottawa.—The Canadian wheat farmer continues in the strongest position in eight years despite a declining wheat market that has seen the May future crash as much as 10 cents a bushel on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, government agricultural authorities and western members of parliament agree.

With only 36,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in store and the possibility of a large crop, wheat experts contended if the farmer gets 15 cents to $1 a bushel for this year's crop there will be quick stimulus for the economic rehabilitation of the prairies.

Government officials and western members were not alarmed at the wheat market decline, which appeared to have been stopped when futures rallied on the Winnipeg exchange.

It was pointed out the downward trend of prices was produced largely by good crop prospects throughout North America where belts and easing of the political tension in Europe which induced selling.

The agriculture branch of the Dominion bureau of statistics said reports indicated a large world wheat production this year. There was a three per cent increase in world wheat acreage.

The United States wheat market has touched new seasonal lows and the forecast of the crop now stands at about 1,114,000,000 bushels. There has been considerable moisture in Dublin.—Determined to seek a clear mandate to carry on the work of national reconstruction, Prime Minister de Valera of Eire decided to dissolve the dail eireann, the lower house of parliament. A general election was called for June 17.

The prime minister was known to have felt keenly the insecurity of the government because it is in the position of being an actual minority of one as compared with all other parties in the dail.

Defeat in a snap vote over the question of an arbitration board to deal with grievances of civil servants—a step the government opposed—gave Mr. De Valera the chance.

He was determined to seize it although the defeat did not compel him to do so under the constitution.

He will go to the country while his political credit is high due to his success in reaching an agreement with Great Britain to settle differences of long standing.

Parliament had been adjourned until May 31 following the adverse vote. Mr. De Valera, in a statement, said: "The government, with a precarious parliamentary majority constantly at the mercy of other parties in support of sectional interest, could not do this nation's work as it should be done."

"The government must be in a position to refuse sectional demands which it considers not to be in the general interest of the country."

It will be the second general election within a year. Last July 1 Mr. De Valera went to the country seeking re-election as well as ratification of his new constitution. He succeeded in both but lost some ground in the dail.

Making Extensive Survey

To Determine Which Areas Suitable For Irrigation Purposes

Saskatoon.—An extensive survey of soils in areas where irrigation projects have been proposed, will be undertaken this summer by the staff of the soils department at the University of Saskatchewan. Members of the staff have left for the south country to start the work.

The soils men, led by Professor John Mitchell, will go into many areas to make a detailed survey of the soils. These surveys will determine to a great extent whether the areas concerned are suitable for irrigation purposes.

The survey work will be conducted under the direction of the Prairie Farms Rehabilitation Act, which this year will spend $3,500,000 on rehabilitation work in the federal government drouth area of Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Wheat Farmer In Strongest Position For Past Eight Years

Argentina and a 91,000,000-bushel exportable surplus is predicted. Last year it was 67,000,000 bushels.

Production will be increased in Brazil and France will produce more wheat than any year since 1934, possibly about 316,000,000 bushels. Russia and India recently have become sellers and it is believed crop prospects in both countries are above average.

It is not believed much of the Canadian wheat in store is held in bond for shipment to the United Kingdom and foreign buyers.

Even should the price decline continue, most authorities here are optimistic about the economic prospects of the wheat farmer. They point out low stocks now in Canada will have to be replaced by this year's crop and that the business accruing to the railways and other agencies in the movement of a large crop to seaboard would assist the west indirectly.

If the price holds, the prospect is seen of great government saving through decreasing relief rolls, particularly in Saskatchewan, where millions of dollars have been spent during the eight-year drouth on assisting unemployed and dry-area farmers.

Both E. E. Perley (Cons., Qu'Appelle) and Gordon Ross (Lib., Moose Jaw), gave glowing accounts of western crop conditions and were two of the most enthusiastic members in the house concerning the outlook.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

NATIONAL UNITY is vital to Canada. Away with selfish demagogues who would split the Dominion to satisfy their greed for power and self-aggrandizement. We believe in the greatest good to the greatest number.

A CONCILIATION BOARD sat at Blairmore last week.
If you had time to spare, it held interest to listen to the various statements of both sides to the dispute. One man, asked to describe a fair standard of living for a working man, stated he considered an automobile a necessity so that he could take his family out for an airing. He overlooked the fact that legs will carry you over the hills and dales where one can get plenty of fresh air and with possibly greater benefit than burning up gasoline on a dusty highway. It serves to show that some people's ideas of a fair standard of living are similar to those of the fellow who had a champagne taste on a wheelbarrow salary.

ANGUS MORRISON, secretary of the United Mine Workers, was there and lost no opportunity to get in some subtle propaganda for his organization and the workers who were listening in. One amusing contradiction was that the evidence of workers in other fields tended to prove that working conditions for Coleman miners were better than in other bituminous fields of the province, yet U.M.W.A. organizers have tried to agitate Coleman men into believing that they have grievances and have lost rights enjoyed by workers in other fields. Coleman was held up to the conciliation board as a standard from the workers' viewpoint by workers themselves. This week the board is sitting at Ferrie. In a few weeks the public may know its findings.
The men want a 20 per cent. increase in present wage scales;
the operators urge a 10 per cent. reduction. Competition from fields in Pennsylvania and West Virginia forces the Canadian mines to sell coal in Canada at prices which the operators claim does not permit an increase in mining costs.
Workers urge a tariff on all American coal entering Canada to protect the Canadian industry. One gets a headache trying to solve the problem. We will have to await Mr. Mc-Gillivray's decision, as well as Bob Livett's, representing the miners, and R. M. Young's, of Canmore, representing the mine owners. And then likely we will be as hazy as ever over the whole thing. For the board, it is nice pickings at $25 a day each, so you cannot blame them no matter how long they sit to take evidence.

TAXES on many working people's homes now amount to a fair rental each month. When a worker earning an average of $1400 a year pays nearly $100 in town and school taxes, $8.50 per month, can it be wondered at there are protests against increased expenditures for schools. They appear to have gone the limit, and a reduction would be quite in order as soon as the deficit has been paid up. In addition the worker pays a sales tax of 8 per cent. which he cannot pass on to others.

IF RATEPAYERS' money is to be spent on teaching subjects of doubtful value to the majority of school students, it stands to reason there will be protests. A lot of fads and fancies introduced into the so-called "curriculum" are of little value to most students when they go out into the world and face the stern realities of life. Often the teachers' viewpoint and those responsible for the arranging of school courses and departmental officials overlooks the fact that the practical side of conditions must be given full consideration. The great majority have to work at trades requiring manual labor, not a smattering knowledge of a hodge-podge of academic subjects. Even a 16-year-old student in a guest editorial in the Calgary Herald indicated very clearly the uselessness of many of the present-day school "trimmings."

WHENEVER tragedy furnishes a topic of conversation, lurid rumors which in most cases cannot be substantiated gain circulation. This week, tragic grief came to a Coleman husband and wife, and to aggravate it some newspaper correspondents rushed into circulation for Calgary papers unfounded rumors concerning deceased. Not only should accuracy be the aim of a correspondent, but he should verify any statement of which he is in doubt. Feelings of others at all times, especially in cases where death follows, should be carefully considered.

INDISCRIMINATE use of firearms by persons without knowledge of the risks involved has been the cause of many deaths. Over 25 rifles were gathered from as many houses in West Coleman, and there are more besides those taken up by the police. Youngsters firing within range of others do not realize someone might be killed. There should be more stringent regulations applying to ownership and use of guns. One lady reported over 20 bullet holes in a sheet hanging on a clothes line. Any one of the bullets fired might have caused a death.

A FEW CANDID WORDS ABOUT BANK EARNINGS

Half of one per cent. a year on total assets is not much of a profit margin for any business, corporate or individual.

Yet that is all the "velvet" there is in the business of Canada's chartered banks.

Banks pay interest on personal savings deposits. They charge interest on loans.

The difference is not all "velvet" by any means—for these reasons:

- (a) It costs money to operate a bank.
- (b) The cash reserves held by the bank earn nothing.
- (c) A bank must provide for losses.
- (d) Earnings on a great deal of a bank's assets are very low.

More than 25,000 people are employed in Canada's banks. In the last ten fiscal years Canada's chartered banks have paid in wages and salaries some $76,000,000 — purchasing power distributed over the Dominion.

In the same ten years banks paid in taxes to municipalities
$40,831,930; to provinces $14-
429,320, and to the Dominion,
$24,027,324, a total of $79-
288,574.

Banks have other costs, too:
Rent on premises; stationery and printing; light, water and fuel; contributions to pensions and group insurance for employees. Depreciation on buildings takes a large amount each year.

Any money a bank pays—taxes, wages or other costs—can come only from the bank's resources—and must be paid in cash. No magic can produce it.

Banking is not all sunshine.
It has its cloudy aspects, too.
Banks must stand ready to pay their creditors—the depositors and note-holders—a hundred cents on the dollar; but banks unfortunately cannot always collect a hundred cents on the dollar! They have losses, inevitably, and must set aside substantial sums to meet them.

A bank must keep itself in such a cash position as to be able to pay you your deposit whenever you see fit to withdraw it.

Chartered banks are required by law to lodge with the Bank of Canada, or hold in Bank of Canada notes, five per cent.
of their depositors' funds; but,
in practice, they always carry about twice that percentage.
Deposits with and notes of the Bank of Canada earn no interest for the chartered banks.

It is necessary also to keep a further amount in short term investments readily convertible into cash. The yield on such investments is low, firstly, because Treasury Bills and other short term securities mature at short date; secondly, because—banks having no monopoly of money or credit—cash reserves of many industrial concerns compete for this type of investment.

Bank earnings depend very largely upon loans, but a bank can lend only when the customer wants to borrow.

Ordinary bank loans in 1929 averaged $1,342,000,000; in 1937 only $731,000,000.

Every Fifth Worker Has a Job in Textiles

IN EVERY 100 urban industrial workers of Canada. 21 have jobs in the textile industry. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics states that next to the group of manufacturing concerns classified as "miscellaneous", the textiles provide employment for the largest number of workers in this country.

THE AMOUNT OF MONEY paid every year to textile employees is exceeded only by that paid those engaged with iron and its products.

SO TEXTILES MAKE EMPLOYMENT for every fifth industrial worker. Textiles stand second to all others in numbers of men and women employed and in money paid for that employment.

DOMINION TEXTILE COMPANY is a part of this century-old industry which provides year-round employment to help make Canada one of the important manufacturing countries of the world.

Very Interesting Program By School Children

On May 18 and 19 the junior grades of Central school and Grade 9 B staged a very interesting and delightful entertainment, including songs, dances and a sketch. The children entered heartily into the spirit of the various numbers in which they took part. It is estimated that about 450 people attended, encouraging indeed to the teachers and the children. Teachers who were in charge of the program were Miss Ethel Wilson, Miss Edith Haysom and Mrs. M. Clifford.

Ding-Dong! Ding-Dong!

Intermittent and spasmodic ringing of a bell on Monday evening caused people to wonder. It was nothing serious, neither was it a fire, or boys playing. It was a group of men at St. Alban's church attaching a rope to the bell, which for many months has been out of use. The bell was donated to the church in 1928 by Mr. Geo. H. Snod, as a memorial to his wife, who died that year, and with the advent of a new minister, renewed energy was aroused to prompt the men to fix the rope so that all and sundry may be warned of the hours of service every Sunday. So, the church bell will again be ringing. Burpee Steeves claims to be an experienced bell-ringer, and he gave a demonstration to the group showing how it should be done to get the full even tone of the bell.

Production of automobiles in Canada during April increased 12 per cent. over production in April, 1937, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

The second full-sized battleship to be laid down by the Germans since the Great War set down the ways into Kiel Bay after having been christened the Goebenau in an impressive ceremony.

The United States war department announced award of a contract for 13 highly modernized fighting planes to cost $3,168,265. The contract was given the Bell Aircraft Company of Buffalo, N.Y.

Construction of a new Canadian National depot at Saskatoon is on the list of projected works to be undertaken this year by the federal government, it was learned from reliable sources.

Interest on funded and unfunded debts total 30.30 per cent. of Canada's revenues in the fiscal year 1938-37, the finance department said in a return tabled in the House of Commons to questions by Robert Fair (S.C., Battle River).

Sir Gerald Campbell

An American Tribute To Canada's New British High Commissioner.

New Yorkers will receive with decidedly mixed feelings the news that Sir Gerald Campbell has been promoted to be British High Commissioner in Canada. They will be delighted at this recognition of his worth and correspondingly depressed at the prospect of losing him. For in the seven years that Sir Gerald has served his country here as Consul General he has made a niche for himself in the social life of the city which another will find it very difficult to fill.

It is natural, of course, that the British Consul General should be in demand as a speaker at public gatherings. But in Sir Gerald's case the demand has been enormously reinforced by the joy with which every audience he has addressed has acclaimed his simple charm, his patient friendliness and his never-failing wit. These qualities have been quite as much in evidence to those who have had the good fortune to know him privately. One rarely runs across a more amusing and companionable man.

Let us congratulate the Canadian while hoping that he will find time in his new post to pay us many a visit, the more the merrier—literally.

Irrigating The Desert

Project In India Biggest Ever Undertaken In World

Completion of the mighty barrage across the Indus River in the Province of Sind, in India, is spurring the engineers to finish the biggest irrigation undertaking in the world. Hyderabad reports that when the project is in full operation the area under cultivation will be nearly trebled.

About 1,000,000 acres will be planted to cotton and 50,000 acres will be devoted to new crops. The barrage itself, a dam with sluice gates, has 66 spans 60 feet wide, and from it flow channels and water-courses covering 7,500,000 acres. Two towns were built to house the 50,000 workers and 1,889 bridges had to be constructed. The operations covered 12,000 miles, largely desert.—New York Herald Tribune.

Still Far From Perfect

Television Play In New York Not Very Satisfactory

The United States radio industry is advancing steadily toward inauguration of a television service for the home, but it still has a long way to go before the goal of perfection is reached.

This was the consensus of about 1,000 persons who sat in when the National Broadcasting Company and Radio Corporation of America brought their all-electronic television system out of the laboratory after a seven-month's hibernation.

In a special demonstration for the press, N.B.C. and R.C.A. broadcast a mystery drama from Radio City, New York. The presentation required three studios and four distinct techniques. The main action was performed by a cast of seven actors, but auxiliary media in the form of motion pictures, still slides and special television effects were contributed.

The program was carried by underground coaxial cable from the Radio City skyscraper to the Empire State Building, less than a mile away. It went out over a television transmitter located on the 85th floor of the Empire State Building. Back in Radio City, press representatives sat before 15 television sets and for 25 minutes watched the drama unfold on a plate screen 7½-by-10 inches.

Blending of the film and live action was accomplished ingeniously and the images projected on the screen were generally sharp and without distortion. However, the tonal effects were not so clear as in ordinary broadcasting and the small images caused eye strain.

Streets As Synonyms

Many In London Still Associated With Professions And Trades

London's famous street of second-hand bookshops, the Charing Cross Road, is being invaded. The haberdashers are ousting the booksellers. The brewer, if he be a learned brewer, will surely regret the substitution of collars for scholars; and even if he be one who can only say, with W. H. Davies:

When I went down past Charing Cross

A plain and simple man was I, his simple tastes will scarcely relish the change from print, to cambric. Nor will those who watch zealously to preserve the old traditions be appalled by any attempt of the haberdashers to offer a sock to Cicerone.

Nevertheless, although London, as lovers of the time-honored and picturesque never cease to remind us, is changing rapidly—although the aspect of the streets, and sometimes, of late, the names of the streets, from day to day—it is surprising how deeply rooted are associations with a trade or profession. Fleet street with its presses, Harley street with its doctors, Savile Row for clothes, and many others are still, as much as ever, current synonyms for the work that is carried on there and as yet this new mood of haberdash and daring seems very wide-spread.—Christian Science Monitor.

Upsets Old Theory

Screw Hole Indicates Wood Petrified In About 100 Years

The discovery of a piece of petrified wood at Coalinga, California, with a screw in it and a hole where undoubtedly another screw had been has upset all previously existing theories of the length of time required for petrification to take place. To date, it has been generally accepted that 500 years were required for a piece of wood to petrify. The fact that screws were not in general use until about 100 years ago would seem to indicate, judging from the find, that petrification may take place in a much shorter time.

Oil Fields In Palestine

Opening of oil fields in Palestine is being discussed in Jerusalem. The lower Judean hills east and south-east of the city and the hills to the north are believed to contain 200,000,000 tons of bituminous limestone. If these rocks contain a fair proportion of oil the supply should last for nearly a century.

British Columbia Produces About 600,000,000 Apples Each Year

Mr. C. A. Hayden, editor of Country Life in British Columbia, estimates that 600,000,000 apples are produced each year for the markets of the world by growers in the interior of this province. Of these, approximately 300,000,000 are taken up by the market in Canada, while 200,000,000 go abroad, principally to the United Kingdom.—Vancouver Province.

A Flying Visit

Visitor To Canada Writes His Impressions Of This Country

Mr. Leonard Crocombe, editor of the British weekly "Tit-Bits," paid a flying visit to this continent last Summer, and in the best tradition of the writing craft hastened home to write a book about his experiences. It is entitled "An Editor Goes West."

Mr. Crocombe spent fewer than 40 days, he says, in his American tour. He visited Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and New York, and his assignment was to write 70,000 words on his adventures. To help achieve that objective he prints some pages of stamship and dining-car menus. He prints also his favorite stories, an interview with him printed in The Ottawa Journal, the text of a speech he made over CBC and some of the "fan" letters it brought him.

The London editor calls Ottawa "a beautiful city," and he seems to have enjoyed himself here. He saw Sir James MacBrien and other officials of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was entertained by Mr. Gladstone Murray and others, and he left us—so he says—to the shout of "Ari Abroad" from a trainman on the Montreal express.

Mr. Crocombe liked our women, our ice water, our railroads, dining cars, our hospitality. He disliked our liquor laws, the hot weather, the smoking compartments on parlor cars, and he thinks it very bad for this continent that airplanes have brought us so close to Europe. There is nothing profound about his notes and observations, but he studied us with good-nature and humor and appears to have been favorably impressed. We do wish, though, that he hadn't encountered that trainman who said "Ari Abroad"—Ottawa Journal.

The Throne Of Albania

Has Been Offered At Different Times To Eminent Britons

King Zog of Albania holds a position that might have been filled, had he wished, by some eminent Briton. The late Lord Headley, who was a Mohammedan, stated that the throne of Albania was offered him no fewer than three times, but he refused it because there was no guarantee of a salary sufficient to maintain the position. Sir Charles Edward Watkin Hamilton, also, convert to Islam, once received, and refused, a similar offer, and in 1921 the first Earl of Inchequo was approached by a powerful group of Albanians with an offer of the crown. "They told me," he said, "that I was not in my line."—Glasgow Bulletin.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SERVING BY PERSONAL DEVOTION TO CHRIST

Golden text: She hath done what she could. Mark 14:8.

Lesson: Mark 14:3-11, 27-31.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 116:1, 2, 6, 7, 12-14.

Explanations And Comments

Unstinted Outpouring of Loyalty Affected. Mark 14:3-4. In Bethany there was a man still called Simon the leper, although he must have been cured of his leprosy or his guests would have been made ceremonially unclean. Calling to mind how Matthew was termed "the publican" after he had left his tax-collecting, we may assume that "the leper" was kept with Simon's name to distinguish him from other Simons in his village. A supper was given by Simon—in Jesus' honor John tells us—while Jesus reclined at the table, Mary, the sister of Martha and Lazarus (John 12:3) took an alabaster cruse and poured its costly contents of pure nard over his head. John reports that she anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped his feet with her hair, and that the house was filled with the odor of the perfume.

There were some that had indignation among themselves, saying, "To what purpose hath this waste of the ointment been made?"

But Jesus said, "Let her alone; why trouble ye her? She hath wrought a good work on me."

Jesus Announced the Denial and the Denial of Peter. Mark 14:27-31. Our two texts put together without the intervening verses, give us a strong contrast between the loyal devotion of Mary and the weak desertion of the disciples. The disciples, Jesus told them as they were on their way to Getsemane, would have their loyalty to him so severely tested that they would all fall him. He quoted to them Zechariah 13:7: "I shall smite the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered abroad." But he assured them that he would be raised up after his death, and would meet them in Galilee.

Peter was positive he would not fail his Master. No one could be surer of his own loyalty to Jesus than Peter, and even more, and he declared that although he would not be offended in Christ yet would not be. And when Jesus warned him that "this night, before the cock crow twice," he would deny him three times, Peter took a solemn vow, solemnly maintaining that "If I must die with thee, I will not deny thee." He spoke honestly. He confidently believed that nothing in the world could make him disloyal to his Master. The scene is told in verses 66-72 of our chapter.

Canadian Air Program

Says Canada Should Stand Firm In Defence Of Democracy

Canadians should serve notice on dictators that they do not intend to be kibitzers in any struggle for democracy and that the British brotherhood stands united, M. Grat-O'Leary, associate editor of The Ottawa Journal, said before the Royal Empire Society's Montreal branch.

The Dominion should tell members of the British air mission, he said, that it proposes to put all resources and energy behind a long-range aircraft program. The planes should be built in Canada, paid for by Canadians and manned by them.

"Planes built to defend Canada would ride the skies for the Empire's defence at the first threat of peril. It would be, I think, our greatest contribution to peace; to that peace which a war-brotherhood needs so pitifully."

John Bassett, president of Montreal Gazette Printing Company, asserted the task of Canadian democracy was to preserve and defend freedom and ideals which in many parts of the world were being trampled in the mud by "Caesarism" as ruthless as it was cruel.

Mr. Bassett proposed the toast, "Canada and the Empire," to which Mr. O'Leary responded.

ARTICLE NO. 58

A Word To Women About Cancer

Nearly everyone has had during life some sort of growth or tumour; it may have been only a wart which may appear on any part of the body. Most growths are harmless. Many never need removal. Some even of insignificant beginnings are dangerous. It is of the highest importance to determine the true character of every growth or tumour, whether great or small, whose existence is known or suspected.

What are Tumours? Elsewhere in these articles on cancer it has been pointed out that the body is composed of countless millions of cells and that a tumour is a group of cells which grows independently of the rest of the tissues and serves no useful purpose. As a rule tumours grow from unuseful tissue, a tissue perhaps which has been inflamed, irritated or over-exposed to sun or weather. A few forms of tumour show a hereditary tendency. Most tumours show no hereditary trace whatever. Some persons seem to be more susceptible to tumours than others. This is not an unusual circumstance. Some persons take colds or other affections more readily than others. Tuberculosis, for example, spreads more readily in some families than in others, but tuberculosis is no longer considered an hereditary disease.

Women are peculiarly liable to tumours in the breast and uterus. These tumours occur usually after 35 years of age, occasionally earlier. Many of the tumours of women are simple and without danger.

Nearly all tumours begin with apparently trivial symptoms. It is a pity that at the beginning they did not present the pain of a toothache. They did, more attention would be paid to them. It is an encouraging fact that among all tumours of the human body there are none which so readily respond to early treatment as those peculiar to women. It is encouraging too, that only 25% or less, of breast tumours are cancerous.

Tumours of the breast begin, as do tumours everywhere, as a single cell. A growth in the breast should be discovered when no larger than a bean. This is the moment when the character of the tumour should at once be determined. If cancerous, surgery is the best means of treatment. Surgery in these early cases of breast tumour offers 90% of cure. The delayed case may mean over 90% of failure. There must be no delay in dealing with a tumour.

Great Force For Peace

Scout Organizations Throughout World Are Doing Good Work

The greatest work for future world peace is at present being done by scout organizations throughout the world, says J. F. M. Stewart, vice-president of the general council of scout commissioners in Canada.

The Toronto Boy Scout leader presided at the conference of provincial presidents and commissioners held in Winnipeg three-day sessions.

"When we consider that the yearly turnover of international scouting is 1,000,000 boys and the active membership 3,000,000 boys, we must reach the conclusion that we are working for eventual brotherhood of man," Mr. Stewart said.

Disliked Making Speech

Among the many duties of his office, President George Washington found none more onerous than making speeches. In fact, when he got off his famed inaugural address he acted in a nervous and nervous and his voice was so low in reading it, he was virtually inaudible.

WHAT HO!

—By—

RICHARD CONNELL

By Arrangement With Thomas Allen, Publisher, Toronto.

CHAPTER XII—Continued

"You gave me a nastier one, I'm sure," said Ernest, politely.

"Don't it, Drink?"

"No, thanks."

"You know, Bingley," said Duff-Hooper, "in many ways you're not a bad sort at all. Why, you might at least be an Englishman."

"Thanks," said Ernest.

The captain raised his glass.

"I drink," he said, "to the confusion of all ghosts, phantasms, spooks, and haunts in general, and to the spirit of Sir Rufus in particular. If I ever do meet him, I shall jolly well tweak his nose and chase him back across the Styx."

"Amen," said Ernest. "And if I meet him—"

He stopped, for the captain's glass had fallen from his limp hand, and the captain's eyes were starting from their sockets. Ernest looked where the captain was looking. Then his eyes protruded, too. Through the yellow-glow light of the Great Hall a figure was coming toward them, and it was a headless ghost.

Ernest Bingley and Captain Eame Duff-Hooper stood their ground. Or at least they did not run away. It was not courage, however, which soldered them to the sofa. It was total paralysis. If they could have moved a muscle, it would have availed them little, for their backs were to the solid wall of the castle, and between them and any egress was the sable figure without a head.

Slowly it came toward them. Seeing them, it paused and stood regarding them as if it were trying to decide which to dispatch first.

After a long and breathless minute it said:

"I say, what's this—a convention?"

The voice of the third ghost was the voice of the current Earl of Bingley.

No sound came from the sofa save the rattling of teeth.

"Fine weather for haunting," observed the earl.

Ernest began to laugh a wild, hysterical laugh. Duff-Hooper poured himself another drink.

"I'm getting to be rather good at this ghost business," said the earl. "I rather think that the Wyncopps have already begun to pack."

"So you hit on my idea, too," said Ernest.

"Your idea?" returned the earl, nettled. "I like that! Your idea, indeed? Why, my dear old banisher, I was doing some amateur haunting around here when you were still at nurse. I've worn out two heads, frightening unwelcome guests. I say, help me out of this clammy dignity. Haunting always makes me thirsty for a Scotch and splash."

Ernest came down to breakfast a little late. Otis G. and Armina Wyncopp, and Mrs. Clara-Martha Phelps were already at table. Their appetites did not seem to be very hearty. They were dressed for travelling.

"I'm sorry we must leave in such a hurry, Ernest," Armina said.

"Surely you're not going so soon?" said Ernest.

"It's for the best," said Mrs. Wyncopp. "Poor little Mervin is on the brink of a nervous break-down. After his horrible experience last night he refuses to stay here another day."

"I don't care who is here when I speak my piece," said Punder. "I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"That's liberal of you, Mr. Punder," said the earl. "Your offer is declined with thanks. And now, Mr. Punder, what's on your mind?"

"I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"That's liberal of you, Mr. Punder," said the earl. "Your offer is declined with thanks. And now, Mr. Punder, what's on your mind?"

"I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"That's liberal of you, Mr. Punder," said the earl. "Your offer is declined with thanks. And now, Mr. Punder, what's on your mind?"

"I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"That's liberal of you, Mr. Punder," said the earl. "Your offer is declined with thanks. And now, Mr. Punder, what's on your mind?"

"I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"That's liberal of you, Mr. Punder," said the earl. "Your offer is declined with thanks. And now, Mr. Punder, what's on your mind?"

"I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"What experience?" asked Ernest.

"He saw a ghost."

"Moonshine, my dear lady," said the earl, blandly. "The suggestive little fellow was dreaming. Had too many tarts."

"I had no tarts," said Armina Wyncopp, "and I saw the ghost."

"Oh, come, come, now," said the earl. "After those yams I ate at dinner you were in a mood for ghosts. What you saw was probably Cook in her night-gown."

"It was a man and it had no head."

"May I recommend my medical man in London?" said the earl. "His tip-top on nerves and on bed-ding-down always goes to him when he has the yipping whin-whams. Suppose you just buzz in and consult Sir Casimir Hitchcock, in Harley Street, and he'll give you some pills."

"That's not a bad hunch, Minnie," said Otis G. Wyncopp. "Guess I need a tonic or something myself. Seeing that ghost has got me down."

"So viddy sorry I slept through all the excitement," said Mrs. Phelps.

"You must pay us another visit, soon, my dear Mrs. Phelps," said the earl. "I feel sure I can arrange a personal interview with the ghost for you."

"How viddy kind of you," said Mrs. Phelps.

"What happened to Mervin?" Ernest asked.

"He's waiting in the car," said Mrs. Wyncopp. "He had his breakfast there. I'm afraid the poor little fellow does not like castles much."

"That's too bad," said Ernest.

"And please don't go out to say good-by to him," said Mrs. Wyncopp. "We'll just slip away quietly, if you don't mind. His sensitive system has been upset. He can stand no more excitement for a while."

"When he's cured will you come back?" said Ernest.

"Thank you, but I'm afraid not," said Mrs. Wyncopp. "We'll spend a few days in London and then go to Europe. Mervin wishes to visit the Tower again and brush up on his history. Otis has a business appointment with Sir Peter Tyler. I must get a perm. After that, we'll cross the channel and just gad about."

"I'll be staying in London," said Mrs. Wyncopp. "At the Hyde Park Hotel. I simply must go to work on my Chaucerian research, you know."

The thanks of the Wyncopps were expressed, and acknowledged, and good-byes said.

The rented limousine glided away from the castle door. A subdued and hushed Mervin huddled in the back seat, flanked by his bulky progenitors.

The earl stood waving his handkerchief at the disappearing car. Mrs. Phelps waved back. The car slipped round a bend. The Wyncopps had gone.

"Oh, boy, oh, boy, did I do a good job of haunting!" said the earl.

"You certainly did, sir," laughed Ernest.

They started back into the castle. No cloud was on Ernest's immediate horizon now. Lady Rosa was dressing to go for a walk with him.

"What's this?" exclaimed the earl. "Sink me, if they're not coming back!"

Ernest looked down the drive. A limousine was coming toward them.

"It can't be the Wyncopps," said Ernest. "Their car was old and black. This one is new and purple."

"Now who can I know who can afford a new car?" mused the earl.

The sumptuous equipage, and a figure in an eye-stubbing checkered ulster surged out of it, and tramped toward them.

"Angels and ministers of grace, defend us!" exclaimed the earl. "That looks like Punder."

Punder it was.

CHAPTER XII.

"Hah!" said Punder. "Here I am. 'Howjerdo?' said the earl."

"Said I'd be back, didn't I?"

"We've been counting the days," said the earl. "You remember my kinsman, the Bingley from America, don't you?"

"Hah! I've reason to," said Punder, and gave Ernest a look like a bite.

"May I ask if you are here on business or pleasure, Mr. Punder?" said the earl.

"Both."

"Won't you come in?"

It was a needless invitation, for Punder, unbidden, had already pushed his way across the castle's threshold.

In the library Mr. Punder took the most comfortable seat, and lit a complacent cigar.

"Do you mind if Mr. Bingley stays?" asked the earl.

"I don't care who is here when I speak my piece," said Punder. "I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"That's liberal of you, Mr. Punder," said the earl. "Your offer is declined with thanks. And now, Mr. Punder, what's on your mind?"

"I've come to take the castle," Punder said.

"I'll have it wrapped up immediately."

"Make a joke of it, if you like; but it's no joke as you'll soon find. Ask your solicitor."

"What will Mr. MacKintock say?"

"He'll tell you I got the law on my side," stated Punder. "Those were demand notes you signed."

"Where they?"

"Mr. Punder nodded."

"I seem to know more about your affairs than you do," he said.

"Shouldn't wonder," said the earl. "I don't seem to know how those notes concern you, Mr. Punder."

"Because they're mine, now," Punder said. "I bought 'em."

"The interest has been paid. That I do know," said the earl.

"Yes, back interest. But I did not come to collect interest. I want the principal. I'll trouble you for twenty thousand pounds, m'lud."

"No trouble at all, if I had it," said the earl. "But I haven't."

"I'm in an excessive awkward situation, aren't I?"

"Well, that's one thing you know," said Punder.

"I wonder if you also know what the risk of people like you," said the earl.

"I do," said Punder, "and I don't care a button what you think. And that goes for you, too," he added, darting a pickled glare at Ernest.

"What do you propose to do, Mr. Punder?" asked the earl. There was nothing care-free or casual about his manner now.

"You got just one guess."

"I'm no good at guessing games," said the earl. "Say your say and get it over with."

"One week from date I move in and you move out. Is that plain English?"

"I never heard plainer," said the earl. "But, surely Mr. Punder, you don't intend really to shove a man out of his home on such short notice."

"Hah! Don't I? Gave you fair warning, didn't I? Said I wanted this place and meant to have it. Nothing stops Punder."

"But, Mr. Punder, why must you have Bingley? There are heaps of castles knocking about you can pick up for a ditty. Some nearly as old and many far bigger and in better shape than this one. Take the Duke of Beddingdon's seat in Shropshire. He's anxious to sell it—"

Have To Import Water

Bermuda Short Of Supply Owing To Lack Of Rain

Bermuda, according to reports from Hamilton, is suffering from a drought and is having to buy water from New York. The island of Bermuda, like those on other coral islands, depend for their water reserves upon rain, and when rain falls so does the supply of fresh water.

On the Virgin Islands every roof is equipped with its own cistern for draining off and conserving rain water, and in the hills are built triangular rainheads designed to catch the water as it falls. Bermuda's arrangements are generally of the same kind. And they work very well so long as rainfall is reasonably consistent. But let there be a dry spell and one has to import water as if it were vintage wine.

The northern hemisphere has a warmer average temperature than the southern hemisphere.

RING DISCUSSES PLANES WITH RECORD-BREAKING PILOT

King George recently flew to four different Royal Air Force Stations in one day on a tour of inspection and covered 2000 miles. He was piloted by the veteran W. G. Gillan. It will be remembered that Squadron Leader Gillan recently astonished the world by flying one of these planes from Edinburgh to London, 385 miles, at an average speed of 408.75 miles an hour, or nearly seven miles a minute.

A Timely Warning

Forest Fires Can Be Prevented By Exercising Caution

In winter time it is necessary to be careful to prevent fire in houses and buildings and in the summer time care should be exercised in the open to preserve the forests by eliminating the number of outdoor configurations which frequently result in heavy losses to property and loss of life, too, states the St. Thomas Times-Journal. It doesn't take long to stamp out a cigarette butt or a cigar stub or to be sure that a match is definitely out before tossing it away. A little extra time employed in being cautious should be worth while. Canada has had heavy fire losses and the loss could be cut appreciably by thoughtfulness on the part of everyone.

The United States fire losses, while not as high as formerly, are appalling nevertheless. During 1937 a total of $285,000,000 damage was caused by fire and even that figure was $8,000,000 below the loss in 1936. That is the general estimate covering fires of all kinds while the annual loss for forest lands is heavy. Fire sweeps some 40,000,000 acres of forest land in the United States every year, destroying timber and improved property estimated to be worth $50,000,000. The above figures speak for themselves and if warnings were heeded the totals could be reduced considerably.

He Stood Alone

The Country Publisher Was In A Class By Himself

A preacher at the close of one of his services said:

"Let all in the house, who are paying their debts, stand up."

Presently, every man, woman and child, with one exception, rose to their feet. After they had been seated, the preacher then said "Now let every man not paying, stand up."

The exception, a care-worn, hungry-looking individual, clothed in a last summer's suit, slowly assumed perpendicular position.

"How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "that you are the only one not able to meet his obligations?"

"I run a newspaper," he answered meekly, "and the brethren here who stood up are my subscribers."

"Let us pray," exclaimed the minister.

Means Big Investment

Handicraft Workers Could Not Afford To Buy Own Tools

During the handicraft age it was possible for each workman to own his own tools. Some people argue that the workman of to-day should also own his tools. It might be a good thing for the country as a whole if that were possible, but unfortunately, it is not possible.

Before work can be provided for the average industrial employee between eight and nine thousand dollars must be invested. In addition to paying a worker his wages, interest in the form of dividends must also be paid to the person or persons who invest those thousands of dollars with which the equipment for the worker has been bought. And tools wear out—so depreciation also enters the problem. Or better tools are invented—and obsolescence is a factor.

Here is a thought that should be fastened in the minds of all employees. Employees should say to them, "If a person offered to lend each of you nine thousand dollars to go into a business, which you felt you were capable of running, and out of which you could earn a living, you would agree to guarantee to that person a reasonable return on the amount so loaned. There isn't any question about that, is there? If the amount loaned were all that that person possessed, he could not lend the money or live unless he obtained some return on it. If as little as six per cent were paid the return would amount to about five hundred and forty dollars per year, whereas the one to whom the money was loaned, because of his ability as a manager, might be able to produce an earning power for himself which would represent three or four times that amount. There would be other years, though when instead of making a profit on that investment, you would suffer severe losses."

Working for wages is a considerably simpler job than that of managing money and equipment so that wages and dividends may be earned and paid.—From Shining Lines.

Peace Movement

Says Canada One Of The Natural Arsenals Of The World

A Canadian foreign policy having as its ultimate objective a working collective peace system was suggested in an address at Ottawa by W. Arnold-Forster, of London, England.

He spoke at the opening meeting of the Canadian League of Nations Society's 16th annual conference. He is a member of the executive committee of the League of Nations Union.

Canada could not be independent or neutral towards the world's effort to establish order, he said, in a speech highlighting the opening of what was described as Canada's Peace Parliament.

Canada, he said, could not "shirk the grim responsibility that results from her being one of the natural arsenals of the world."

The Dominion was one of the chief sources of some of the most important raw materials of modern war. He asked whether the organization did not agree that it was "morally intolerable" that Canada should make blood money by selling raw materials to nations breaking the league covenant.

Gentleman From Hawaii

Wears Flowing Robes Of Silk With Diamond Brooches

Wherever he went, from the moment he stepped off the boat that brought him from his Honolulu home, his frequent excursions through the lobby of the Saint Francis, where he was stopping, all eyes turned in astonishment upon Ernest Parker, for this more than interesting gentleman does not elect to wear the clothes of Road Street. Instead, he dons flowing robes of the choicest silks and embroideries, which are set off by enormous diamond brooches.

Of a tall and commanding figure, it was little wonder that this Hawaiian scion caused all conversation to cease abruptly whenever and wherever he appeared.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Too Speedy For Thinker

"Dictating or typing goes faster than I think well, so I've gone back to writing in longhand," says Irvin Cobb, the veteran U.S. humorist writer. Mr. Cobb had a Canadian parallel in the late Joseph T. Clarke of the Toronto Star. Writing with the stub of a lead pencil, "Joe" composed some of the finest editorials ever to grace a newspaper.

New Dental Method

Demonstrate How Lower Plates Can Be Kept In Place

Hailed as the outstanding clinical development at the convention, a simplified method of "harpooning" lower dental plates was shown by a Toronto dentist at the Ontario Dental Association meeting in Toronto.

Dr. Irvine H. Ante, member of the Dentistry Faculty at University of Toronto, demonstrated to nearly 300 delegates the method he had developed for great comfort and increased stability of lower plates. He described his discovery as a simplification of a method developed by two New Orleans dentists, Drs. Fournet and Fuller.

The Toronto dentist, using a living model, explained the method discovered by the New Orleans men "was really applicable to specialists only" and took from two to three hours. The revised method could be used by the general practitioner and took only 15 to 20 minutes.

Dr. Ante claimed that at least one-third of persons who used lower dental plates, until discovery of the Fournet-Tuller method, were caused aggravation because lower jaw muscles displaced the plates. Muscle movements under the Ante method were used to hold the denture firmly.

Badges Presented to First Coleman Girl Guide Company

Mrs. R. P. Borden, Divisional Commissioner, Tells of World Conference of Guides.

Coleman Girl Guides badge presentation and program on Monday evening was attended by mothers and invited guests, and it proved very enjoyable. All the Guides took part in exercises, songs, piano solos, and a sketch depicting Guide activities.

Mrs. R. P. Borden, divisional commissioner, in her address on her visit to England, Denmark and Sweden two years ago, described some of the highlights of the World Conference, she being one of Canada's two representatives. With other delegates, she was presented to the monarchs of those countries, and everywhere the delegates were graciously received and most hospitably entertained. Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, chief scout and chief guide, respectively, spent some time with them in England at the home which was donated to the Guides as a training school. It is situated in Hampshire.

Efficiency badges were presented to a number of Guides by Mrs. Borden, and present with her was Mrs. R. H. Campbell, district commissioner. Miss Winifred Dunlop, captain, presented the girls to Mrs. Borden. Other officers who assisted in the program were Mrs. A. B. Westworth, lieutenant, and Miss A. Yuill, camp adviser.

The All Around Cord is quite a distinction as it requires several badges before it may be awarded. The girl must be a First Class Guide who requires the holding of a cook's badge, a child nurse badge and a needlewoman's badge, along with the other qualifications required for the First Class tests. In addition to these she must hold seven other proficiency badges, one of which, at least, must be an outdoor badge. A Guide with an All Around Cord will therefore wear 1, second class; 2, cook's badge; 3, child nurse badge; 4, needlewoman's badge; 5, first class, and seven proficiency badges, thus holding at least twelve badges.

A Guide may not work on proficiency badges until she has earned her second class.

The different stages of Guiding: 1, recruit; 2, tenderfoot (Trefoil pin then is worn); 3, second class; 4, first class.

Taking part in the program were Hazel Krwzy, Jane Borden, Edith Ash, Pat Emmerson, Thelma Williams, Frances Short, Hazel Thomas, Dorothy Cooke.

Dorothy Cooke and Frances Short were awarded All Around Cords; Helen Gate and Patricia Emmerson, second-class badges; Edith Ash, ambulance and domestic service badges; Thelma Williams, second-class and dancer badges; Jane Borden, second-class and swimmer's badges; Evelyn Henriette, cook's and child nurse badges; Joyce Williams, second-class badge; Mary Partington, embroidress, needlewoman, interpreter for the deaf and minstrel badges. Her badges were presented before she left for Creston in April.

H. T. Halliwell acted as judge and decided that all the girls who took part in the program were entitled to entertainers' badges. Rev. Mr. Hague, in a brief address complimented the officers on their good work in behalf of the Guides, stating that their good example could not help but be an influence for good in the lives of the girls.

Lunch served by the girls brought to a close a very happy evening, with "Taps" sung by the Guides.

COLEMAN HOMING SOCIETY.
EDMONTON RACE, MAY 29th.

Liberated at 6:47 a.m. with no weather report at Edmonton, the birds arrived home with every indication that they had struck stormy weather during their 300-mile flight.

A bird each to four members were the leaders and favorable location of lofts to the direction the birds came in, and again quick trapping decided the winners.

Andrew Lier, with one of the leading four birds and also a quick trap, was unable to time in as his bird was minus its race ring and therefore could not be clocked.

This was a tough break for Andrew; however, as other members were witnesses to the arrival and trapping of this bird, and certify to the time it could have been clocked as being during the time the winners were clocked, a special prize will be awarded in this case.

The first three birds clocked were winners in the open race and also the nomination pool. The result:

1st, A. Began's 872, 3:19:45 p.m.
2nd, W. Fryde's 889, 3:20:02 p.m.
3rd, Shorty Rayman's 807, 3:20:04 p.m.

Prizes donated by The Modern Electric Shop, J. Rushton and Coleman Co-Op.

The next race will again be from Edmonton on June 5th. This race will be for the Yearlings' Championship, the Deliveries Limited cup and prizes. One-year-old birds only to compete. Members to have birds at C.P.R. depot 12 noon on Saturday, June 4th.—F.B.

PRAIRIE PRICES ARE LOWERED BY FINDS IN TURNER VALLEY

Oil product consumers know the developments in the Turner Valley have resulted in lower prices for gasoline and distillates in Alberta, Saskatchewan and even in a large part of Manitoba.

This happened because producers, pipe lines, railways and refineries got together and made Canadian oil available over the whole prairie area. To go this former sources of supply were displaced. Thus Montana crude oil was forced out of the picture.

To the lay observer it might seem that the lower the price goes in Turner Valley, the better for the consumer. This would not be the case. The price of crude oil must be enough to give the producer a return on his money so that he can search for more oil. The wells now flowing decline with fair rapidity. If new wells are not brought in, sooner or later there would be a scarcity of supply in Turner Valley. No comment or advice is needed to inform the public what happens to the price of a commodity when it gets scarce.

Thus it is in the consumers' interest that the producer gets a fair price for his product. Only by this means will he be able to drill more wells to maintain an adequate supply and thus keep the cost to the consumer down to a reasonable level. [4]
